Sri S. SRINIVASA IYENGAR (T.-Narsipur).—Sir, I rise to oppose the amendment tabled to clause 26.

Mr. SPEAKER.—There is another amendment which has been tabled just now by Sri K. Puttaswamy which may be acceptable to the Hon'ble Member. That is in accordance with the discussion that has taken place yesterday on this clause. Sri K. Puttaswamy may move the amendment.

*Sri K. PUTTASWAMY (Sriranga-patna).—Sir, I beg to move:

"That the following may be substituted for clause 26 viz.,

'For Clause 26, the following new clause shall be substituted:—

'26. The Board of Appointments.

(1) Appointments to the staff of the University shall be made in accordance with rules made by the Chancellor in consultation with the Syndicate.

(2) There shall be a Board of Appointments for the purpose of making appointments of Professors, Readers and Lecturers.

(a) When appointments of Professors and Readers for any subject are made, the Board shall consist of:

the Vice-Chancellor, who shall ex-officio be the Chairman and two Specialists in the subject concerned selected by the Chancellor.

While making such appointments the Board shall consult;

(i) the Head of the Department for the subject concerned when an appointment for that subject is made;

(ii) the Principal, Central College, Bangalore, when an appointment for Science subjects is made, or

the Principal, Maharaja's College, Mysore, when an appointment for Arts subjects is made; or the Principal of the Professional College concerned, or when there are more than one such college, the seniormost of the Principals of such colleges when an appointment for professional subjects is made;

(iii) The Dean of the Faculty concerned when an appointment for the subject pertaining to that Faculty is made.

(b) When appointments of Lecturers for any subject are made the Board shall consist of—the Vice-Chancellor, who shall ex-officio be the Chairman; the Director of Public Instruction; and the Head of the Department for the subject concerned when an appointment for that Subject is made.

The Registrar shall ex-officio be the Secretary to the Board.

(3) The Vice-Chancellor shall be competent to make appointments of ministerial and other staff of the University.

(4) The decisions of the Board and in such cases as may be prescribed by the Chancellor, the decision of the Vice-Chancellor shall not have effect unless approved by the Chancellor; thereafter, every such decision shall be final and shall not be called in question in any manner."

Sir, I am very grateful to you for permitting me to move this amendment at this late hour. The Hon'ble Members of this House will kindly pardon me for taking them almost by surprise. Copies of this amendment are not supplied as yet to the Hon'ble Members. But there is one redeeming feature Sir, that the amendments that I am now seeking to move is almost similar to the recommendation made by the Joint Select Committee. It makes only slight adjustments, not far-reaching changes. Therefore, Sir, Hon'ble Members will appreciate the difficulties under which this amendment is now being placed before this House. Yesterday, another amendment was moved in this House. Sri T. Mariappa who moved the amendment sought to create a Board of Appointments consisting of the Vice-Chancellor and two permanent members; and the other persons, viz., Principals of the Colleges or Deans of faculties and Heads of Departments, and Specialists were, according to that amendment, only to be consulted by the Board of Appointments. Some of the members of the Opposition, especially the Leader of the Opposition and Sri Pattabhiraman were very apprehensive about that amendment. They expressed a feeling that by the creation of that Board, the Government would get in and try to control the appointments. Sir, it was made very clear by Sri Mariappa who moved the amendment that it was far from his mind that any element extraneous to the academic field would control the Board of Appointments. Even as envisaged by the amendment that was moved yesterday, only persons who had experience in the academic field had to be appointed. That is why in the amendment it was said that the Chancellor would prescribe qualifications of Members who would serve on that Committee. It was to be a permanent body. But certain members of this House were rather critical about the amendment. In order to have a common measure of agreement, the present amendment is being placed before this House. Sir, I have had the opportunity of consulting the members of this House and I feel sure that this amendment would meet with the approval of this House. Now, the Board of Appointments as envisaged in the report is: For the appointment of Professors and Readers, the Vice-Chancellor and one Principal of the College, the Dean of the Faculty, Head of the Department if there is already a Professor who is the Head of the Department and two Specialists have to meet and finalise the appointment of Professors and Readers. Now, according to the amendment that I have tabled, the Vice-Chancellor and two Specialists form the Board and they will have the benefit of consulting the Principal of the College concerned, the Dean of the Faculty concerned and the Head of the Department concerned. Therefore, Hon'ble Members will kindly see that there is absolutely not much difference between the report of the Select Committee and this amendment. This amendment only restricts the size of the Board. Instead of 6 or 7 it is proposed to consist of only three. Therefore, Sir, I feel confident that this House will accord its approval to the Board of Appointments so far as it concerns the appointment of Professors and Readers.

There is another class of appointment, i.e., the appointment of Lecturers. According to my amendment, the appointment of the Lecturer is to be done by a Board consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Director of Public Instruction and the Head of the Department concerned. All these three persons would be academicians with long experience of teaching and I feel that there would be no difficulty in accepting this amendment. Even here, while the appointment is being made, they will have the benefit of consulting other persons, i.e., Dean of the Faculty concerned. Therefore, Sir, I request this House to kindly accord its approval to the amendment moved by me to clause 26.

MR. SPEAKER.—Amendment moved:

'For Clause 26, the following new clause shall be substituted.—

"26. The Board of Appointments.—

(1) Appointments to the staff of the University shall be made in accordance with rules made by the

(MR. SPEAKER.)

Chancellor in consultation with the Syndicate.

(2) There shall be a Board of Appointments for the purpose of making appointments of Professors, Readers and Lecturers.

(a) When appointments of Professors and Readers for any subject are made, the Board shall consist of—the Vice-Chancellor, who shall ex-officio be the Chairman and two Specialists in the subject concerned selected by the Chancellor.

While making such appointments the Board shall consult—

(i) the Head of the Department for the subject concerned when an appointment for that subject is made;

(ii) the Principal, Central College, Bangalore, when an appointment for Science subjects is made, or

the Principal, Maharaja's College, Mysore, when an appointment for Arts subjects is made; or

the Principal of the Professional College concerned, or when there are more than one such colleges, the seniormost of the Principals of such colleges when an appointment for professional subjects is made;

(iii) The Dean of the Faculty concerned when an appointment for the subject pertaining to that Faculty is made.

(b) When appointments of Lecturers for any subject are made, the Board shall consist of the Vice-Chancellor, who shall ex-officio be the Chairman; the Director of Public Instruction; and the Head of the Department for the subject concerned when an appointment for that subject is made.

The Registrar shall ex-officio be the Secretary to the Board.

(3) The Vice-Chancellor shall be competent to make appointments of ministerial and other staff of the University.

(4) The decisions of the Board and in such cases as may be prescribed by the Chancellor, the decision of the Vice-Chancellor shall not have effect unless appoved by the Chancellor; thereafter, every such decision shall be final and shall not be called in question in any manner."

Sri J. MOHAMED IMAM (Jagalur).—Sir, we require some time to study this amendment. Just now this amendment has been placed in our hands. It embodies quite different proposals. Some time may be given to us.

Mr. SPEAKER.—Shall we take it up after lunch?

Sri A. G. RAMACHANDRA RAO (Minister for Law and Education).—We can take it up at 2 o'clock.

Mr. SPEAKER.—Now, we shall take up the descussion on the Public Accounts Committee Report.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Motion to consider.

Sri A. G. RAMACHANDRA RAO (Minister for Law and Education).—Sir, I beg to move:
